Sherlock Holmes walk on Sunday 12th June

This visit has been organised by MC Black

This walk will start at the Sherlock Holmes Public House in Northumberland Avenue (Charing Cross or Embankment tube stations). Circled on the accompanying map. Members may either meet for lunch (at their own expense - pay the restaurant at end of meal) at 12:15 for 12:30 or join the group outside the pub at 14:00. We will take lunch in the first floor restaurant, where members of the Sherlock Holmes Society of London have recreated Holmes and Watson's sitting room at 221B Baker Street. The restaurant offers a range of meat, fish and vegetarian dishes and some reasonable beer.

We will wander through some of the obscure byways of Bloomsbury as well as the principal thoroughfares of the West End before finishing outside the Wilkins building of University College.

Members will enhance their pleasure if they read (or re-read) the Sherlock Holmes Canon before the walk; if time is limited, concentrate on the following stories.

Hound of the Baskervilles

The Blue Carbuncle

The Copper Beeches
