

Institute of Physics

LONDON AND SOUTH EASTERN BRANCH REMS SECTION

Walk though Imperial London Sunday 2nd October 2005

This visit has been organised by Ian Williams

Pseudo random walk lead by Ian Williams starting at 1:30 Sunday 2nd October from Embankment side of Boudicca's statue outside Westminster Underground and passing three recently erected monuments via the parks to the cafe on the end of the Serpentine. Then past Diana's water 'feature', the Serpentine Gallery's annual architectural exhibit, Bayswater dog's cemetery and across two new and absolutely unique pedestrian bridges in the Paddington basin. Application of the Einstein-Smoluchowski random walk equation predicts we will probably end in Little Venice where one can pick up a bus.

Boudicca's Statue

An 1850 bronze sculpture by Thomas Thornycroft commemorating Boudicca (also known as Boadicea), queen of the British tribe known as the Iceni, who led an ultimately unsuccessful revolt against the Romans in AD 60-61.