

A visit to The Natural History Museum at Tring & The Pitstone Green Museum on Thursday 18th July 2013

This visit has been organised by MC Black.

Morning: The Natural History Museum at Tring

The Natural History Museum at Tring is the result of one man's passion for the natural world. Lionel Walter Rothschild was rich, eccentric, passionate and generous. He dedicated his life to the study of animals. He believed in sharing his enthusiasm and encouraging an interest in as many people as possible.

The Museum's Victorian character has changed little since it opened in 1892. It is a unique opportunity to see more than 4,000 animals from around the world together in one place. The public galleries give just a taste of the size of Walter's collection, and indicate his personal contribution to the study of animals, zoology. The Rothschild family gifted the entire Museum and its collections to the nation in 1937.

The Museum's website is <http://www.nhm.ac.uk/tring/>.

Afternoon: The Pitstone Green Museum

Set in the Buckinghamshire countryside and is housed in the buildings of a 1831 farm, the Museum offers a fascinating and inexpensive day out for the family with many interesting displays and artifacts to see. The museum is run by volunteers from the Pitstone & Ivinghoe Museum Society.

Although the museum is basically a Rural Life Museum with many exhibits relating to farming, country life, trades and professions within a 25 mile radius of Pitstone, it has many other interesting exhibits, including two model railways, a 37 HP Crossley gas engine (left), stationary engines, vintage wirelesses, photographic and electrical apparatus and a WWII military aviation room. Highlight of this room is a full size reconstruction of a section of a wartime Avro Lancaster Bomber (right).

The Museum's website is <http://www.pitstonemuseum.co.uk/>.
