Mullard Space Science Laboratory and Polesden Lacey (NT), Dorking

Friday 14 Sept 2018

This visit has been organised by Stewart Coulter.

Description

The Mullard Space Science Laboratory (<http://www.ucl.ac.uk/mssl>) is UCL's Department of Space and Climate Physics. Set in the Surrey Hills it is a world-leading research organisation and is the UK's largest university-based space research group. Since its establishment in 1966, it has participated in more than 35 satellite missions and over 200 rocket experiments. Home to well over 100 academic staff, PhD students and engineers, it includes a clean room for satellite instrument preparation.

Lunch

Lunch is at The Parrot (RH5 5RZ), a fine country inn a few miles away overlooking the Surrey Downs. Pre-ordering is required.

Polesden Lacey

This NT property is the lavish country retreat of Mrs Greville, a vivacious Edwardian socialite. We will be taken on a 1h tour (free) after which we can roam on our own. It closes at 5pm.

Postcode: RH5 6BB.

Transport

Parking is so limited at MSSL that REMS will subsidise the cost of a minibus at notional cost. Pickup will be at Dorking station at 10:45, drop off around 17:30. The all-day parking charge at the station is £6.40, not assured. If you wish to drive we have permission to park early at The Parrot (RH5 5RZ) which is on the route from the station to MSSL. After lunch you can then drive to Polesden Lacey where parking is copious or you have the choice to depart early.
